Those Architects

We design buildings that simply connect people to place. From a planthat hinges around a garden, or an elevation that frames a panoramic. view, no two projects are the same. Each is a special response to elemand context. So vision extendions, our job is to distill the essence of a site, and its content applications. To craft a besultful. functional sanctuary in which to its work or play:

Because Architecture is for life.

Personally I like the font and its thin weight.

The big font size would be great for a heading or an introduction. I am a fan of the thinner font weight as well, makes the website look more minimalistic.
